

JIMMIE MATTERN REPORTED SAFE IN SIBERIA

DOLLAR JUMPS OVERBOARD AND MARKETS SOAR

Prices Hurtle Upward at Dizzy Pace; Profit Taking Appears

DOLLAR FALLS OFF TO ABOUT 70 CENTS

National Buying Wave Also Credited With Forward Drive

BY VICTOR EUBANK. Associated Press Financial Writer. NEW YORK, July 7.—Stocks and staples took off for the stratosphere today, as the dollar leaped overboard without a parachute, but profit-taking disturbances in the upper zone interfered with the flight.

With the British pound showing a gain of around 15 cents at about 4.75, against its former gold parity of about 5-8, and the dollar dropping to about 70 cents in terms of European gold exchanges, the stampede for equities in the early hours swamped the machinery of the stock exchange and sent prices hurtling for gains of 1 to 4 or more points.

Ticker Lags Behind

The ticker tape lagged nearly half an hour behind floor transactions which in the first hour, moved at the rate of 11,000,000 share day. Realizing in large volume, cut down the gains as well as the speed and as the session grew older, the list became spotted with irregularity. All gains made new highs before easing. Bonds were moderately irregular.

Allied Chemical, after being up 4, dropped back for a gain of 1. Others that transformed advances of 1 to 3 or more points into minor losses or gains of about a point, included U. S. Steel, American Tobacco B. Bethlehem Steel, Anaconda, Drug, New York Central, Delaware and Hudson, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, Du Pont, National Distillers, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Consolidated Gas, International Harvester, Case, Goodyear, Santa Fe and Union Pacific.

Markets were particularly interested in late despatches from London to the effect that the American delegation to the economic conference was drafting a proposal for world-wide action in shortening hours of labor, raising wages and agricultural prices.

While inflationary psychology was given the major credit for the resumption of the forward drive in stocks, more conservative traders were basing much of their optimism

Hagen Blows Up In Third Golf Round

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 7.—After setting a hot pace for two days, Walter Hagen, American veteran, blew up on the incoming nine of the third round today, took a disastrous 79 and dropped three strokes back of the leaders at the 54-hole stage of the British open golf championship.

This gave Hagen a total of 219 as he battle developed a quadruple tie for the lead among Leo Diegel, and Joe Kirkwood, of the American contingent, are Mitchell and Henry Cotton of the British forces, all with 216.

Post's Wife Would Like to Fly, Too — But Not Over Water

NEW YORK, July 7.—Wiley Post's wife would like to go with him on his second flight around the world — if the route lay entirely over land. But the prospect of flying over the ocean doesn't appeal to her. She did ask him to take her on the last hop of the flight, from Edmonton, Alta., to New York, she said today, but her husband vetoed the idea.

"After all, I couldn't really do anything," she added. "I suppose I'd just be excess baggage. So I'll have to wait here until he gets back."

Mrs. Post is going to follow every stage of the flight, however, and she confessed her mind won't be at rest until it's over. In her hotel suite there is a huge globe on which Post traced his route so that his wife will be able to follow him around the world.

Post, who made his first flight around the world with Harold Gatty two years ago, hopes to make his second attempt in six hops—New York to Berlin, from there to Novosibirsk, Siberia, then to Khabarovsk, to Fairbanks, Alaska, to Edmonton, and back to New York. Mrs. Post said her aviator husband hasn't eaten or slept much in the last week or two.

"All he thinks about is the flight," she said.

She also disclosed that her husband will carry a good luck piece a watch she gave him five years ago and which he had with him on the first flight. It has her picture in the back of the case.

Woman Perishes As Building Is Razed

(By Associated Press) LYNN, Mass., July 7.—A woman was burned to death and 10 firemen seriously injured early today as a fire swept a two and a half story wooden building in Federal square, West Lynn.

The dead woman was Mrs. Rose Blair, 55, who was trapped and burned to death in her second-story room. The firemen were injured as the building collapsed. Four children escaped.

The fireman had recovered Mrs. Blair's body and were lowering it from a second-story window when the collapse occurred. Six firemen were inside the house and the other four were on ladders or close under the walls.

The walls of the building fell outward carrying the fire fighters with them. Volunteers and firemen responding to a general alarm had the injured men out of the wreckage within an hour. All were in a serious condition.

The cause of the fire was unknown. The building was occupied on the first floor by a store. Mrs. Blair occupied the upper floors.

Coal Men Meet SANDUSKY, O., July 7.—Reports on working hours, wages and prices were presented to the Ohio coal conference at Cedar Point today by J. A. Mills, of Springfield, chairman of the industrial coal committee.

Yule Letter, Sent Out 17 Years Ago Finally Arrives

A Christmas letter, mailed to him almost 17 years ago while he was a soldier in the U. S. army in France, has just been received by B. C. Crapster, living on the Depot rd., southwest of Salem.

In good condition despite its 17-year travels, the letter was mailed to Crapster on Dec. 15, 1917, by H. L. Geary, an intimate friend who at that time resided at 114 East Thirteenth st., New York City.

The letter apparently was lost among United States mails in France since its arrival in that country. Geary's return address on the back of the envelope is still plainly discernible. Postmarks on its front indicate the letter was sent to several cities before it finally reached Crapster.

Crapster was a corporal at the time the letter was mailed to him, later being given an appointment as first sergeant. He was a first lieutenant at the conclusion of the war. He has been living in Salem for three years.

He is employed by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce at Washington, D. C.

SHUTE, WOOD TIE FOR GOLF TITLE

Finish With Cards of 292 Each In Spectacular Finish

(By Associated Press) ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 7.—Two youthful American professionals, Denmore Shute of Philadelphia, and Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., today tied for the British open golf championship with totals of 292 each for the 72 holes in one of the most spectacular finishes in the tournament's history.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7.—Jack Crawford, Australian star, won the final round of the men's championship from Ellsworth Vines today, 4-6, 11-9, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

The Austrian came, temporarily at least, the king of all he surveys in the tennis world as he added the prized Wimbledon title to that of his native land and of France.

2 Detectives Shot In Bandit Battle

CHICAGO, July 7.—Guns blazed between a bandit automobile and pursuing police machine today and when the smoke had cleared away it was found that two plain clothes detectives had been wounded, one probably fatally, and their prey had escaped.

The wounded officers are: John Cunningham, 29, shot above the heart and not expected to live, and Charles S. Wilson, 36, shot in the arm.

From the story told other officers by Wilson, the bandits may have been guilty of robbing out-of-town visitors to the world's fair recently.

Wilson said he and Cunningham had just gone off duty and were driving home in Wilson's car when he noticed the other machine as one he had pursued several days ago. It faltered, he said, with the description of the holdup car furnished by victims.

As he called to the occupants to drop up to the curb he said they sped on. The chase led through streets and alleys with both sides firing. Wilson said he and Cunningham were wounded simultaneously.

V. F. W. Complete Remodeling Work

Marking the completion of remodeling work at their home, Vine ave., members of Allen Reynolds post No. 892, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold a program of entertainment, open to the public, Saturday night. Remodeling work has been completed on the first floor, making possible the addition of a grill which will be in charge of Bert Leach, past commander.

Lodge rooms have been removed to the second floor.

Two Are Injured In Auto Collision

LISBON, July 7.—Two persons were slightly injured in a collision of automobiles driven by Dr. A. E. Tikowski, New York City, and John Claess, Milwaukee, Wis., near Chandler's school, west of Lisbon, Thursday.

Mrs. Freda Buck, Massillon, and Mrs. Andrew Probst, Milwaukee, passengers in Claess' machine, sustained minor injuries. Harry Hymowitz, a Brooklyn, N. Y., was a passenger in Dr. Tikowski's car.

Hangs Himself

NORWALK, O., July 7.—Dr. F. P. Herman, 39, hanged himself with his belt in a cell of the county jail here, where relatives had him committed because they said his mind was impaired.

WANDERER SETS FIRE TO PAPERS IN LISBON JAIL

"John Delaney," Unclothed, Taken from Cell, Collapses

MRS. NEILL TAKES CARE OF CHILD

Probate Court Is Facing Problem In Disposing Of Unusual Case

What to do about John Delaney, claiming to be from Los Angeles, Calif., but who really is believed to be Jack Carrell from Rochester, N. Y., and other points east, and who last night is said to have attempted to set fire to the city jail at Lisbon, was the problem probate court authorities at the county seat were attempting to solve today.

With his pretty, four-year-old daughter, Estelle, placed under the care of Mrs. John P. Neill, matron at the county infirmary, the man, taken to Lisbon last yesterday afternoon, was questioned by county authorities and at 7 p. m. was given lodging in the city jail there.

Delaney—he insists this is his right name—is said to have taken off all his clothes in the jail, piled up newspapers and ignited them.

Flames Extinguished Smoke issuing from the jail attracted Street Commissioner Edward Sexton who quickly connected a fire hose to a hydrant and extinguished the flames. Delaney, ordered from the cell, was taken into nearby rooms where he collapsed.

He was given medical attention. Meanwhile, however, Salem city and county authorities have uncovered additional clues in their attempts to properly identify the man and have definitely refuted his story that he is suffering from shock resulting from the death of his wife and oldest daughter in the California earthquake at Long Beach last February.

The earthquake, in the first place, authorities relate, occurred on March 10 and not in February while, in the second place, it has been definitely established that Delaney, accompanied by his wife and two daughters, passed through Lisbon and Salem last May 15.

They were provided relief by Lisbon welfare agencies, given food and lodging, in addition to gasoline and oil for their automobile.

Licenses Issued to Delaney Probate Judge Homer W. Hammond was placed in charge of the case and, late yesterday, in response to a telegram requesting information, received word from Russell Bevans, commissioner of motor vehicles at Sacramento, Calif., that licenses for a Chevrolet automobile were sold to a "John Delaney, 2003 South Grand st., Los Angeles," early this year.

It was a Chevrolet which Delaney abandoned near Deerfield after which he and his curly-haired daughter, the pet of the city hall

Committee to Dig Up More Data On Banks

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The senate committee investigating private banking sent its agents back to New York today to dig for three months into the records of bankers, brokers, and the stock exchange.

Chairman Fletcher announced there were no plans for further hearings until October, but served notice the committee was subject to action if developments warranted.

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, was already back in New York to conduct personally the undercover investigation preparatory to fall hearings. Before he left, he announced the inquiry would be directed into J. P. Morgan and company; Kuhn, Loeb and company; Dillon, Read and company; the Chase Securities corporation and the stock exchange.

The series of hearings recessed yesterday afternoon after Pecora questioned H. H. Lee, president, and A. J. County, director of the Pennroad corporation, about its activities.

Pecora expressed amazement at a statement by Lee that he did not know about negotiations by his company for a $38,000,000 block in the Pittsburgh and West Virginia until they were consummated.

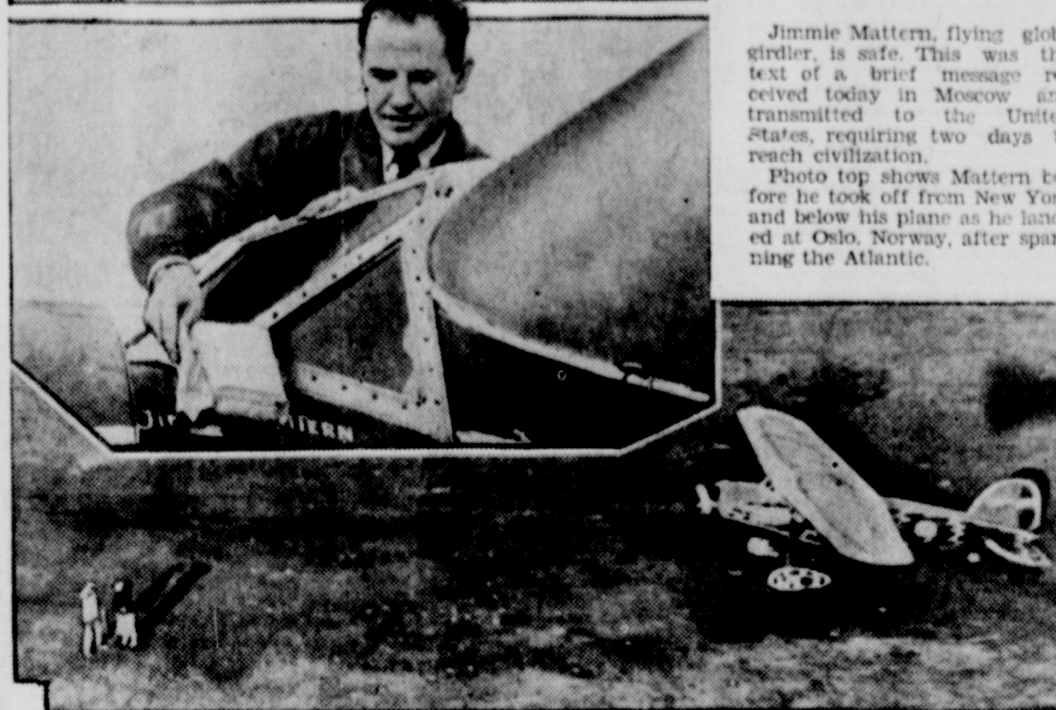

Drinks Gasoline, Girl Recovering

Said to have accidentally taken a drink of gasoline, Yvonne Beeson, a four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beeson of Washingtonville, R. D. 1, was treated at the City hospital Thursday night.

The girl was rushed to the hospital but, after being given medical attention, was returned to her home.

Her condition is not serious, physicians reported.

Missing Globe Girdler Sends Note From Siberia

POLICE RETAIN MURDER THEORY

New Clues Unearthed In Death of Ironton Political Leader

(By Associated Press) Ironton, O., July 7.—Holding to his theory that Dr. J. W. Lowry, political leader and physician was murdered, Sheriff E. W. Bennett today said he had uncovered clues to substantiate his belief.

The sheriff said he had interviewed a woman who saw an automobile containing at least two men drive up to the Lowry home early on the morning of May 25, several hours before the physician's body was discovered. He declined to reveal her name.

According to the sheriff, the woman told him the men entered the house through a side door after changing the lights on their car.

Find Stains On Pillow After they had been in the residence for some time, the lights were turned on. She said she saw the physician had retired before the car drove up to the house.

Dr. Lowry was believed to have been a victim of apoplexy and for that reason, blood stains on a pillow and on a bolster passed with scant attention. However, Sheriff Bennett said an autopsy revealed a bruise on the physician's head.

Another incident which the sheriff said lent credence to his theory was the fact that no money was found in Dr. Lowry's house. The sheriff said he had interviewed as

GOLD BLOC BOWS IN NEW DISPUTE

Sub-Committee Votes To Continue Discussion Of Money Matters

(By Associated Press) LONDON, July 7.—The European gold bloc lost its fight for exclusion of monetary questions from the renovated agenda of the world economic conference today when the sub-committee on immediate measures for financial reconstruction voted 25 to 15 to continue to discuss monetary problems.

The vote came after an all-day battle over the proposal by Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, that the full agenda be continued, including monetary matters which the gold countries have been fiercely opposing.

The British Dominions, Scandinavia, and the countries of the Far East and Latin America, lined up almost solidly with Mr. Chamberlain's position which supports the American thesis.

Jurist Is Fined By Village Mayor

COLUMBUS, July 7.—A village mayor sat in judgment on a state supreme court judge today, and the verdict was a fine of $15.

Supreme Court Judge Howard L. Bevis, of Cincinnati, appeared in the court of Mayor John C. Felton, of Grove City, a Columbus suburb, last night. He pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding through the village.

Carl Goldhart, a motorcycle policeman who enforces Grove City's 25-mile-an-hour speed limit, told his honor, the mayor, that his honor, Judge Bevis, sped through the town at various speeds ranging from 40 to 48 miles an hour.

Recall 200 Workers

Tiffin, Ohio, July 7.—Two hundred workers were recalled today by the Monarch Products company, toy manufacturers, which closed down two weeks ago.

Held for Chicken Theft, Man Found to Be Parole Violator

LISBON, July 7.—Within 30 minutes after Dan Elick, 40, had been committed to the county jail from East Palestine in default of $1,000 bond for the theft of 64 chickens from the farm of S. E. Metz, near East Palestine, he was on his way back to Youngstown in charge of Parole Officer Morris of Warren, charged with the violation of his parole from the Ohio penitentiary where he had been sentenced to serve from one to 20 years for breaking and entering in Mahoning county.

Early in the year Elick and two companions took the poultry from the Metz farm, and the same night parked their automobile in East Palestine. The trio was picked up by Night Patrolman George Knuff as suspects, and were taken to the East Palestine jail.

While Knuff was opening a cell door, the three men jumped on the officer, beat him, and escaped. Knuff later located the automobile Elick and his companions were driving and in the back of the car the live poultry was found.

Metz later filed a charge in the mayor's court at East Palestine, against Elick, and a warrant sent to Youngstown. Elick was arrested at Youngstown Wednesday and returned to East Palestine, where he was arraigned, placed under $1,000 bond for his appearance at the next term of court and committed to the county jail Thursday morning by Chief of Police Warren of East Palestine.

It was only a few minutes after Elick had been put in a cell at the county jail when Morris came, wanting Elick for violation of his parole. He was turned over to Morris to be returned to the penitentiary.

The charge against Elick in this county will be continued against him.

Ferret Brought To Aid Of Flu Victims

(By Associated Press) LONDON, July 7.—The prospects of producing serum to make humans immune to influenza has been brought nearer by the discovery that ferrets can be infected with the influenza virus.

The announcement of the finding was made in part by newspapers recently, and today received confirmation by the Lancet, journal of British medical men, which names as discoverers three doctors, Wilson Smith, C. H. Andrews, and P. P. Laidlaw.

The inability heretofore of finding an animal susceptible to "flu" infection hindered experiments, but the ferret, a small weasel-like animal, came to the rescue.

Tests confirmed the belief that influenza is partly due to a germ that can pass through filters from which scientists hope to prepare an effective serum. The experiments are continuing.

Meeting Is Called By A. M. E. Pastor

Rev. G. D. Choice, pastor of St. John's A. M. E. church, East Third st., today issued a call for a second meeting to be held at 8 tonight for the organization of a Salem branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Rev. Choice, commenting that the organization, with headquarters in New York City, has for more than 20 years fostered the cause of colored people in civic and legal matters, urged the attendance of all local colored residents.

The meeting will be held at the A. M. E. church. A program including talks on appropriate subjects is planned.

Call Is Issued On All National Banks

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 7.—The comptroller of the currency issued a call today for the condition of all national banks at the close of business Friday, June 30.

ROTARY HEARS YOUNG SINGERS

Chorus of 40 Boys Entertains at Club Luncheon

Salem Rotarians were entertained delightfully by the Boys Choir of 40 voices, organized last Easter under the direction of the Episcopal church, following their luncheon Thursday noon at the Elks club.

Choir Master Robert Lippert of East Liverpool had charge of the boys and accompanied them at the piano as they sang two selections. He explained to the Rotarians that the boys represented various denominations and were organized, not only to sing but to build character.

Twice a week Lippert comes to Salem from East Liverpool, where he directs the largest boys choir in the country, to give the choir rehearsal and to conduct play periods for the boys. One of the objects of this organization is to get the parents interested in church through the activities of their boys. He urges that other churches organize boys choirs.

The day's program was arranged by Wilbur J. Springer. He presented Rev. Dayton B. Wright, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, who spoke briefly.

Thursday's meeting was presided over by Clifton Reeves, new president of the Rotary club.

Huron County Man Finance Director

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, O., July 7.—Representative Clarence H. Burk (D) of Huron county became state director of finance today—his fiftieth birthday.

He was named by Governor White to succeed Howard L. Bevis, recently appointed judge of the state supreme court.

A native of Birmingham, Erie county, where he worked in his father's grocery after attending the village schools, Burk began his public career as a justice of the peace here about 15 years ago. Later he was a city councilman and then mayor.

He was elected state representative in 1927. He has been a legislator since then, except for one term. As chairman of the house finance committee of the recent legislature, Burk helped draft the biennial appropriation bill.

Burk was a member of the milk price investigating committee named a year ago by Governor White.

The new finance director, who will receive an annual salary of $3,000, is president of the Savings and Loan Banking company of New London.

200 Attend Grange Meet At Westville

Two hundred persons were present when Yellow Creek grange met last evening at the hall, near Westville. Continuing the chain service, Mt. Nebo and Perry granges put on the program, as follows:

BRIEF MESSAGE RECEIVED FROM MISSING FLIER

"Safe, Anadir, Chutoka, Siberia." Is Text of His Note

GLOBE GIRDLER LOST ON JUNE 14

Two Days Necessary To Relay Word to Civilization

(By Associated Press) Jimmie Mattern, world flier given up for all but a trusting few, is safe in Siberia. From the little trading post of Anadir brief word came today that the aviator who disappeared on June 14 while making the first solo flight around the world in aviation history was safe.

Flier Sends Word

The good news was dispatched by the flier, himself, relayed across the wastes of Siberia to Moscow and sent on from there to his homeland.

"Safe, Anadir, Chutoka, Siberia," the message read, and it was signed "Jimmie Mattern."

Mattern's wife on the west coast had never lost her faith that he was still alive. Nor had his mother in Freeport, Ill., or his backers in Chicago.

"I was confident all the while," said the mother.

"I knew he was safe all the time," said the wife.

"We always had confidence," said the backers.

The unwavering hope of this little band of persons was shared by the United States coast guard. When Mattern's announcement of his safety first reached the coast guard in Washington, disclosed that ever since the flier disappeared while on the way from Siberia to Alaska, the coast guard cutter Northland had been searching Alaskan waters for him.

Cutter Speeds To Flier And today word was sent to the Northland of Mattern's safety and coast guard officials expected the cutter to be in touch with the flier some time today.

Only one message was received from Mattern, and that had taken two days to be relayed to civilization, so that no details were known. It was not known whether he crashed or was merely forced down or how far he had to travel to reach the little trading post from which he sent out his message to the world.

Anadir, or Anadyr, is a trading post on the Anadyr river in the far northeast Siberia, north of the Kamchatka peninsula, near the Bering sea, and generally along the route Mattern took in attempting to fly from Khabarovsk to Nome, Alaska.

It was at Anadyr that Captain Read Amundsen, discoverer of the South pole, appeared in 1920 after having been lost in the Arctic seas for more than a year and a half on one of his attempts to reach the North pole.

Government Turns Eye On Securities

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 7.—The federal government today begins supervising the sale of stocks and bonds in an effort to help the investor put his money only in sound securities.

For the next 20 days, the men who filed new issues may record them with the federal trade commission. But after July 27, they must.

As rules for enforcement of securities act became effective, the trade commission announced its aim not only was to protect the public but to refrain from hamstringing "honest and reputable investment dealers."

Among facts that must be supplied to the commission in the registration certificate are a list of persons who will be offered the issue at prices below those paid by the general public, a recent balance sheet, articles of incorporation and the names of underwriters.

Let's Bet on It

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 7.—The morning papers said the London conference blew up. The afternoon ones say it's blown back in again. They ought to put that thing on the stock market and let people make bets on what it will do next.

Well, the boys got to see the king, and that was about all the trip ever was for, anyhow.

The whole thing doesn't seem to be worrying Roosevelt. He has gained eight pounds since it started. I'll bet France has perspired away 25 pounds per diplomat in the same time.

CROWDING THE LIMIT

Early descriptions of industry's intention and desire to cooperate for the sake of economic recovery under guidance of the Roosevelt administration are failing to hold up in the presence of much contrary evidence. It is painfully clear that the recovery program is going to have to fight for its right to exist. Wherever possible, management is going to crowd it to the limit. The profit motive still is stronger than the more intelligent motive of restoring earning power to a point where profit for all legitimate enterprise is reasonably assured.

Needless to say, there are numerous and important exceptions to such a statement. In many quarters response to the administration's plans shows a real desire for participation in the teamwork which is the basis of the plans. On the other hand, administrators of the program are realizing fully what possibilities of selfishness exist—possibilities which will be seized upon by unscrupulous business men avidly in the name of profit. These economic scavengers will do their best to wreck recovery plans for no better reason than inability to conceive of anything higher than their own immediate and ignominiously selfish interests.

It is a sad comment on business in an enlightened age when greed for profit is so rampant that it is satisfied at the expense of the only method which has been found to conduct an acceptable experiment in restoring the earning power of the worker. Even optimism is withered by the evidence of management continuing to exploit helpless workers in the face of incontrovertible evidence that their condition is the fundamental cause of the depression. It should not be necessary to use force to make industry save itself.

Apparently, however, it is force rather than cooperation which will determine in the end the success of the national recovery program. In the name of helping the people the government will have to exert the utmost effort to keep the people from robbing each other. If it could be made otherwise—if human nature could be changed—Utopia could be produced immediately.

ALL-TIME LOWS

Although existing principles of American government do not make it necessary to urge a high marriage rate and an increasing birth rate to keep the population vigorous, there undoubtedly are many thoughtful people wondering what will happen if present trends in marriage and birth continue.

In the difficult year of 1932 a new all-time low of only 7.87 marriages for each 1,000 units of population was recorded. It was the first time in 21 years that there were fewer than 1,000,000 marriages in the United States. The total, 981,759, was a 7.5 per cent decrease compared with the total in 1931.

Probably connected closely with decline in the marriage rate was a further decline in the birth rate, which also is the lowest on record. Concerning this phenomenon disclosed by statisticians, interpreters say it reveals an apparent gain in the movement toward a stationary or declining population.

This means that unless there is a return to the fertility of former times or relaxation of rigorous immigration laws the future national economy will be concerned with a decreasing population. There is an open issue on the desirability of this condition—an issue which has been clouded confusingly by production possibilities of the machine age. Unless capitalism can be so altered as to provide more employment, a declining population is inevitable it would seem.

However, it is risky to speak surely on probabilities in such matters. It is axiomatic, for instance, that the marriage rate responds quickly to changes in economic conditions. If the present recovery plans are successful, for instance, the year 1934 should produce an increase in the marriage rate and subsequent years should produce a rise in the birth rate.

On the whole, it is difficult to accept the theory of a stationary or declining population in the United States. The United States is still young, as nations go. It should be many generations before politicians find it necessary to whoop up enthusiasm for the married state. Given better than an even chance to survive, young people can be depended on to keep marriage and birth rate statisticians from boredom.

What Others Say

DEFENSE OF MOTHERS-IN-LAW
Throughout the ages the mother-in-law has been the target of the wise-cracker. She has been ridiculed, cartooned, lampooned, burlesqued, caricatured, and made the subject of jokes whose numbers are as the sands of the sea. She has been pictured as a fiend in human form. Only at rare intervals has an author come along and written a story in which the mother-in-law was presented as anything except an ogre.

And now the subject of mothers-in-law as home wreckers has been made the basis of one of those enlightening studies by a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

It must be admitted that the researcher had an unlimited field and an inexhaustible source of material on which to draw. Yet it seems a waste of time.

Everyone knows there are mothers-in-law of all dispositions, shapes, sizes and degrees of goodness and cussedness. There are great, noble souls who are better than any mother to their sons and daughters-in-law, and then there are those who are a special brand of human poison. There are the interfering busy-bodies and home wreckers but there are also those who help to keep romances from going on the rocks.

It is an old saying that no roof is large enough for two families. In many cases it does not work so well when families are mixed, yet there are thousands upon thousands of instances where the mother-in-law lives along with the family without any attempting homicide.

After all, why should we expect perfection in mothers-in-law when it is found in no other member of the human family—Ohio State Journal.

The Stars Say:

For Saturday, July 8
According to the signs of planetary direction this day may be one of excitement, commotion and high tension, with the forces and faculties under strong stimulus to jump into bold action and possibly impulsive behavior. While there will be a trend toward initiative and splendid enterprise yet factors of devastation and disruption are also at work. Treachery, subtlety and duplicity menace and even personal lures to pleasure and indulgence may prove factors of defeat. With care all may thrive.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which everything depends upon themselves in the way of restraint and wise judgments, as the forces and faculties will be at high tension and the spirit of enterprise and initiative under dominant urge to be up and doing.

A child born on this day may be bold, enterprising and courageous, but restless, excitable and changeable.

Notable nativity: Zeppelin, inventor airship.

Don't Neglect Slightest of Wounds

"I saw an automobile accident the other day," a friend of mine said. "The ambulance surgeon gave each of the injured an injection which came from a small bottle labeled 'T. N. T.'"

The doctor gave it to everyone who had received a scratch or cut, no matter how slight it seemed.

My friend was right when he said the medicine was given to all who received minor injuries, as well as those who received serious lacerations and bruises. But it was not T. N. T. The label undoubtedly read "T. A. T." which is the abbreviation for "tetanus antitoxin."

This preparation promotes safety whenever the skin is broken and exposed to dirt, rust and roadside filth. Certain germs, called "tetanus bacilli," are found in the soil, and attached to rusty or dirty objects. The germs enter the body through abrasions and lacerations of the skin. In consequence a disease called "tetanus" or "lockjaw" may be caused.

Value of Anti-Toxin
At one time tetanus was a common disease. It was encountered particularly after gunshot wounds, lacerations of the skin, accidents from firecrackers or from stepping on rusty objects, such as nails and tin cans. Fortunately, this much dreaded disease is now combated by the administration of the tetanus antitoxin.

This treatment prevents tetanus. But it is only successful if given immediately after the accident. In caring for such a wound, it is not enough merely to give the tetanus antitoxin. It is imperative that the wound be cleansed and the patient given the necessary medical care.

Tetanus is a serious disease if neglected. The reason it is called lockjaw is because the sufferer is unable to open his mouth. This is due to a paralysis of some of the muscles, particularly the muscles of the face and throat. Severe convulsions occur in the last stages of the disease.

I am glad to say that the mortality has been reduced more than one-half. The disease would never be met if the proper precautions were taken. Often the antitoxin is given too long after the injury, when the germs have already begun their deadly work in the body. This delay is a serious mistake.

Another common mistake is neglect of simple wounds, scratches and abrasions. Be on the safe side and seek immediate and proper medical attention. Remember that no matter how slight the injury, it may result in tetanus. This is especially true if the injury has been sustained outdoors. You need the advice of your doctor.

May I warn all my readers against the dangers of street injuries and gun-shot wounds. Injuries from blank cartridges and fireworks are all too frequent. Take the necessary precautions against accidents. If you receive an injury, do not fail to seek medical advice.

Ed L. Moore, manager of the Moore circuit, has instructed the local manager to investigate available sites for a proposed up-to-date playhouse to be constructed within the next few months.

Leetonia—As the direct result of the failure of the First-Second National bank in Pittsburgh, the Leetonia Steel company suspended operations Monday evening. It is understood that the Pittsburgh men at the head of the new company depended to a considerable extent upon the First-Second National for their financial support in the extensive project.

In order that the pupils at the Prospect school building may enjoy the much needed space for playground, the board of education decided Monday evening to purchase an additional acre of ground adjoining the school property on the north and authorized the clerk and president to take the necessary action to secure this ground.

That the big steam shovel which is to cut a channel for the county ditch south of the city, and thus effect the permanent improvement of that waterway will not be shipped from Marion until Thursday was learned Tuesday in a telegram received by Contractor W. H. Halston, so that the actual beginning of work will probably not take place before July 15.

George Slater, of Sharon, was seriously injured about the head in an automobile accident on the Salem rd, three miles north of Leetonia Monday evening when the machine which was being driven by William Gailey, of Youngstown, stuck in the sand and turned over.

Miss Harriet Marburger of Salem and Clifton L. Atkinson, Damascus, were united in marriage at noon Tuesday at the bride's home, Tenth st.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 7. — Thoughts while strolling: Those trained dogs for blind men—one step, stop and look around! Hope Williams and Mrs. Ryley Cooper look alike. And Watterson, Rothacker and Dick Greiner bear a resemblance. What bright ungrateful eyes pigeons have. One of my favorite people—Irene Castle.

Some day I'm going to act suspicious around those private guards in front of the Rockefeller's homes. Just to see what happens. What became of Harry Carroll? Wasn't it terrible—the way they punished the gold hoarders! Ho hum! Nobody can look so baby-talkish as Helen Kane.

One word description of Isabelle Leighton—chirpy. Corey Ford is writing the best burlesque these days. Howard Scott and James Cagney have the same shade of hair. I can never think whether its Gerald or Gerard. Swope. Overheard: "I think I'll go over to Broadway and barter myself for awhile."

Joseph Cummings Chase, a Kenta Hill. Me., boy, who made good in the city. Nobody can muss up their eye-brows like John N. Garner. Unless it's Messmore Kendall. G. H. Vance Dane could pass for Elsie. It wouldn't hurt Stanley Rehearth to hippety-hop to the barber shop. Nobody has a better detective story writing name than Samuel Dashell Rammert. Sounds like the villain's his. Broadway gagers are walking into Lindy's wearing false mustaches a la Hitler. They say Ernest Hemingway cusses as poetically as Mark Twain. I don't believe it.

When in the neighborhood I drop into my father's favorite hotel, The Woodstock. He stopped there in the picturesque period when it was The Spaulding. Today, a bit out-moded by the newer flamboyant shrines all about, yet something of the old atmosphere remains. Years ago its dining rooms jumped into favor when Morgan's chef of his Corsair grew too portly for the galley and took a post there. Stanford White was a customer. So was Charles Frohman.

In the days of The Spaulding, the management had to request Henry Miller to give up his lodging there. Not for moral turpitude but because the actor, coming in after the play, awakened guests when he used the telephone. A vital person. Miller thundered over the phone in casual conversation. He could never subdue his voice. He left with mutual regrets.

Charlie Poore, who edits The Times Book Section, suggests for the American Wing a pneumatic riveting hammer as a valuable museum souvenir of vanished times.

Rockwell Kent, who rocks the artistic world with his wood cuts, hibernating his annual period in the '40s, likes to appear outdoorsy and pops in at teas, exploiting the highest little finger lifts, in corduroys—and lumberjack shirts. He is a reputed vegetarian, too.

To appearances Charlie Judels is an accomplished linguist, yet does not know a half dozen words of a foreign tongue. His mumbo jumbo of French, Italian, Swedish and German bewilders natives of those countries when, in correct ambassadorial attire, he addresses them at public dinners. For $350 per address.

A character around old Murray's Roman Gardens—remember the revolving dance floor?—was introduced to strangers on the loose as Prince Powdosky, formerly of the Russian Imperial Guards. In his see saw accents he had astonishing way of misinterpreting the most casual remarks, taking violent offense and winding up with invitation to pistols for two at dawn.

The actor John Mason introduced him to me one night after theater in the bar. Just to make talk I remarked the Prince's profile was somewhat like John Drew's. His face twisted into a fierce scowl. Bewildered, I tried to explain Drew was a famous actor of the day. This seemed to make matters worse. The Prince beat his chest, tore his hair and let go a barrage of Russian epithets. I appealed to Mason who questioned him in made-up gibberish and said: "He thinks you insulted his sister." It raged hell-bells for a half hour and I went home and tossed all night trying to think up some way to duck his duel challenge. Not until I was renewing passports did I know it was a gag.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio.—Louis A. Johnson, Clarksburg, W. Va., national commander of the American Legion, is scheduled to make the principal address when the Blaine viaduct, connecting West Virginia and Ohio, is dedicated Sept. 3. Governors of both states are expected to attend the ceremonies.

CLEARANCE SALE

Of All Summer Dresses

To Make Room for Our New Fall Line!

We almost gave up in despair of holding this sale, silk prices having gone up 40%. Mr. Goldberg being in contact for the last three weeks with the New York market, discovered three of the best dress houses for a close-out of their dresses. When they came out of their cool, white tissues, there was nothing for us to do but to add our own expensive stock to the crowd, so tomorrow's crowds won't be disappointed when they come beauty and bargain hunting. Of course, their prices were much higher, but we're out to sell our whole stock of dresses. Priced from $1.33 to nothing over $2.93. There's enough variety in prints, pastels, whites, sheers, swaggers, jacket suits, etc., to satisfy every woman's needs for the rest of the summer.

EDNA THOMAS SOCIETY

Mrs. Frank Stoudt, Mrs. Jack Hicks and Beatrice Maeder had charge of the annual picnic of the Edna Thomas Missionary society of the Methodist church held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Carr Curtis, Damascus rd.

Miss Maeder had charge of the devotionals and the subject was "Clear Streams." She also read a poem, "The Open Road." Other numbers on the program included: "Demonstration," "The Extension Rays," Mrs. L. Nichols, Miss Esther Rollins, Miss Eleanor McMurray, Mrs. C. F. Christian, Mrs. Cecil Scott and Mrs. H. Ramsey; an article, "Possessions," read by Miss Rollins; vocal solo, Mrs. A. B. Hobson; an article, "From Kennebec to Kru Land," Miss Rollins; an article, "Emma Michener, Pioneer," Miss McMurray.

A nominating committee was appointed by the president and election of officers will be held at the next meeting on the first Tuesday in August.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

A marriage license has been issued by Probate Judge H. W. Hammond to Miss Florence Pritchard, Salem, formerly of Columbiana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pritchard, and Willis H. Green, a baker, residing at Alliance, R. F. D., formerly of Salem. They were married at Lisbon by Justice of the Peace M. K. Zimmerman.

Miss Lois D. Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Ed Harvey, and Harvey A. Macklin of East Palestine, an upholsterer, have also obtained a marriage license. They are to be married by Rev. Thompson.

SEW MERRILY CLUB

A meeting of the Butler Sew Merrily club was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mary and Maxine Pottoff near the Depot rd. After the business meeting the time was spent playing games. Refreshments were served by group 1.

Plans were made to entertain the mothers of the club members on July 11 at the home of Rebecca and Alice Gamble, who live east of Wilmers.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Zola Slutz.

Today's Pattern

SCARFS CLAIM ATTENTION
Pattern 2554

What's more intriguing than a gay scarf? The clever way it is worn, we say! When you study today's model you'll cast your vote for its smartness. The colorful scarf is fashioned of contrast, and slips under the tab-like details of the frock in a very fetching way. Note particularly the chic diagonal seaming... slimming as can be! Both cotton and silk prints are the rage, so choose one of them!

Pattern 2554 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric and 1/2 yard 36-inch contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with pattern.

THE NEW SUMMER EDITION OF THE ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK IS READY. Afternoon, golf, sports, tennis dresses, jumpers, house frocks, special beginning patterns, styles for juniors, and cool clothes for youngsters, and instructions for making a chic sweater are among the fascinating items.

COUPON

METHODIST SOCIETY

Mrs. B. H. Calkins' group had charge when members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church met Thursday afternoon in the church parlors.

The subject for the meeting was "Inter-racial Day" and Mrs. Calkins had the devotionals. Other numbers on the program included: reading, "The Life of Emma Michener;" piano solo, Miss Margaret Kirkbride; poem, Mrs. Calkins. Mrs. David Fletcher, who is secretary of stewardship, told an interesting story regarding her work.

Announcement was made by Mrs. E. F. Noragon that the annual picnic will be held the first Thursday in August at the home of Mrs. Mary Carr Curtis, Damascus rd.

DORCAS SOCIETY

One visitor was present when members of the Dorcas society of the English Lutheran church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Clay, West Sixth st. There were 13 members in attendance.

After the business meeting a social period was enjoyed and a lunch was served by the hostess.

Plans were made to attend the Sunday school picnic at Centennial park on the first Thursday in August. Members of the society will hold their business meeting at 3:30 that day at the park.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY

There were 53 in attendance at the quarterly meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church held Thursday at Centennial park.

A picnic dinner was served at noon followed by the regular business meeting. Readings by Martha Campbell and Mrs. J. W. Steinbach entertained. Mrs. J. W. Astly had charge of the program.

The next meeting will be held in October.

W. B. A. MEETING

Guests from New York, Cleveland, Alliance and New Philadelphia were present at a social meeting of Quaker City Review, Woman's Benefit association, held Thursday evening at Centennial park.

Interesting talks were given by Mrs. Anna Glass and Mrs. Harriet Murphy, charter members of the review. Dancing, stunts, bridge and "500" entertained and a lunch was served.

GIRL SCOUTS

Members of Troop No. 1 of Red Rose Girl Scouts met Thursday afternoon at the home of Betty Combs, East Fifth st. After a short business session the girls went to Centennial park where they enjoyed a picnic supper. Each member took a covered dish which she had made.

NOW! Women Insist On A Really Cool And Sanitary Kitchen

A Universal Electric Range Is Really Cool And Sanitary From Every Standpoint

From the beginning of time women have longed for a cool, sanitary method of food preparation. Our grandmothers tired of the fireplace and wood stove with its unsanitary dirt, soot, and energy-sapping heat.

Later stoves employing combustion to produce heat are little better. Hot ovens, cooking tops and flue pipes make the kitchen unbearable in summer weather.

Purchase an electric range today and know the comfort of cool, sanitary cookery. The cooking units of an electric range are clean as a light bulb. The insulated oven needs no flue pipe. Even the cooking top is insulated. All heat goes into the cooking utensils.

Investigate the modern Electric Range today. Its cooking perfection will amaze you.

Draft Rubber Code

CLEVELAND, July 7.—"Substantial progress" has been made toward agreement on a code for the nation's rubber industry, said Charles C. Gates, of Denver, chairman of the code committee of the Tire and Rubber Manufacturers association.

Sixty members of the association considered a draft of a proposed code, prepared in New York by a group of nine during a two-week session.

Classify Roads

COLUMBUS, O., July 7.—Classification of state highway improvements to be financed under the $15,000,000 state grant under the industrial recovery act, has been started by Highway Director O. W. Merrell.

The improvements are subject to federal approval. Classification completed, he expects to begin allocating the jobs to the various counties where new and improved roads are most needed.

DOLLAR JUMPS, MARKETS SOAR

On the surprisingly substantial business gains which are being reported daily from all parts of the country. As one of the week-end trade reviews commented, "it is no longer an opinion that business is on the upgrade—it is a fact."

The rush to transfer dollars into goods, it is pointed out, is showing no abatement with the buying wave reaching such proportions that it has swept aside most of the doubts and suspicions prevailing only a few months ago. Not only was the goods shortage in wholesale and retail lines found to be far greater than had been imagined, but the steady participation of the consuming public has tended to confirm the advance judgment of merchants who started some weeks ago filling their warehouses to the brim.

Although unemployment apparently is being reduced at an encouraging rate, some analysts recall that of the approximately 12,000,000 idle in the nation governmental authorities do not expect to get more than about 3,000,000 back to work by fall. Hopes are expressed, however, that many of the remainder will have jobs before the turn of the year.

POLICE RETAIN MURDER THEORY

New Clues Unearthed In Death of Ironton Political Leader

Associates of the doctor and they told him he was in the habit of keeping large sums in the house.

Meanwhile, the sheriff and other county officers awaited the outcome of a laboratory examination of the physician's vital organs.

Had Removed Organs
The abdominal and chest organs had been removed by J. E. Schneider, Chasapeake, O., undertaker who later produced the organs, which he had buried in his yard. He said he removed them to facilitate preparing the body for burial.

Sheriff Bennett said Schneider told him no one had asked him to remove them. Bennett asserted he had questioned fellow morticians and they declared it was unusual for an undertaker to remove vital organs unless requested to do so by authorities.

In the event such procedure was necessary for embalming, the sheriff said, they usually were put back in the body after treatment, or placed in an air tight container and buried with the corpse.

When authorities removed the physician's body from a mausoleum for a post mortem examination, they found the chest stuffed with excelsior.

50% of the cars that finished Indianapolis race were Studebaker powered!

Fastest 500 miles in Speedway history a sweeping Studebaker triumph!

Only 14 out of 42 entries finished... 7 had Studebaker engines... 5 of them were 85% stock Studebakers!

MOST of the cars in the Indianapolis race were specially constructed and fabulously costly. But not the 5 Studebakers that competed as a team—and that went through the entire 500 miles without a repair.

They were built in the Studebaker factory in the same way that the Studebaker you buy is built. They were stock cars except for certain slight modifications to conform with racing requirements.

You'll never give any car the test these Studebakers got at Indianapolis. But what a satisfaction it is to know that every Studebaker is able to stand up that well.

Why not come in today and take out one of the new Automatic Studebakers for a convincing trial drive? They're the best-built, best-looking cars in Studebaker history. They're priced amazingly low considering their abundance of advancements. And we're in a position to give you an exceptionally good deal on your present car.

News From Court House

Common Pleas Entries

Lewis E. Benninghoff and others have filed a foreclosure action in common pleas court against Sarah S. Saner and others, claiming $3,000 owing on a note given May 15, 1930, secured by mortgage deed referring to lots 27 and 28 in Hainesworth.

A petition in error has been filed in court here accompanied by the bill of exceptions in the case of W. A. Lutz, as plaintiff in error against Glen R. Pattison, defendant in error, an issue recently tried in municipal court at East Liverpool. In this case Pattison sued Lutz, the owner of a truck for the destruction of a street clock standard, and now Lutz has taken the case to the higher court, setting up the usual eight grounds of error.

In the liquidation of the Citizens Savings bank, Salem, Judge W. F. Lones in common pleas court has approved an application for an order authorizing the payment of preferred claims.

Judgment for the plaintiff for $130 entered by confession by the defendant, has been entered in the case of H. W. Hammond as trustee in bankruptcy against Charles Beatrice.

Leave has been granted the defendant to file an answer to the petition of the plaintiff in the case of Anna M. Hoffman against Midwestern Motor Transit Inc.

An action to procure assignment of power through a court order has been filed in common pleas court by Susan Seachrist, a widow, against Herbert R. Seachrist and others, and for legal interest in 43.39 acres section 23 Fairfield township. The plaintiff was married to Ira Seachrist June 11, 1931, and Seachrist died July 6, 1931, less than a month after the marriage.

Divorce Actions

Edith Pearl Watkins has filed a divorce petition in common pleas court against her husband, J. D. Watkins, alleging gross neglect of duty. The couple was married here Aug. 31, 1926, and have three children, six, four and one-year of age. A decree, alimony and custody of minors are sought upon final hearing.

George Arthur has filed his petition for divorce against his wife, Alberta Arthur, 283 Moore street, East Liverpool, declaring the ground of willful absence for over a period of three years, and that the defendant has refused to live with at New Cumberland, W. Va., July 2, the plaintiff. They were married 1925. Of the two children, the eldest, a son is with the plaintiff, and a daughter, two and one-half years old is with the defendant. A decree and custody of the son is sought on determination of the issue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Auday, grand children, Betty, Irene and Junior Porter of Pittsburgh were guests here the latter part of last week, leaving on Sunday morning for Mansfield to visit. They were accompanied by Mrs. Emma Kirchner and son, Robert.

Nick Biender, who underwent an operation last week at the Salem City hospital, is recovering.

Clark J. Halderstadt was the speaker for the Boy Scouts at their meeting on Friday evening. His subject was "Sheep Raising in Ohio".

Porter and Martha Aiken entertained a group of young people from Beaver Falls and New Brighton on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Aiken and family have gone to New Brighton to remain until next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Neville with Mr. and Mrs. H. H. McCartney of Lisbon were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Waler in Salem.

Class Conducts Service

Members of the Confirmation class had charge of the morning worship service at the St. Jacob's Reformed church last Sunday morning.

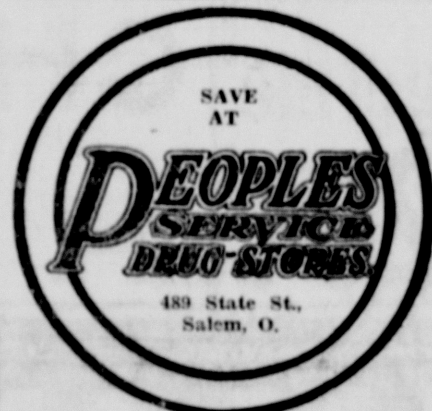

Themes—"The Christian's Way of Living", Arlene Brinker; "Sunday, Its Purpose and Value", Janet Frantz; "Being Friends With God and Others", Maud Farmer; "The Book of Books", Evelyn Shive; class song, "I Would Be True"; "The Church and Its Work", Hazel Church; "Prayer, Its Meaning, Privileges and Results", Pearl Bailey; "Looking Toward a Christian World", Loretta armer; "What It Means to Become a Christian", Virginia Dillon.

On Friday evening the Girls' Missionary Guild will hold their meeting at the home of the hostesses, Misses Helen and Grace Crook. Leader, Miss Doris Koutz.

Fourteen of the Boy Scouts from the St. Jacob's church attended the Camp-O-Ral at Millrock. The boys did very good in the different projects. One patrol scored 78 points and the other 83. This is the first time any of them had been at a Camp-O-Ral.

CORTLY STRIKES
EUROPE LEARNS
HERRIOT SPEAKS

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1933 L. F. King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

TEN MILLIONS of more in the United States are looking for work. In New York 30,000 that had jobs, among men's clothing and fur makers, have quit on strike. Other thousands are expected to strike in other cities.

In New York 300 policemen, assigned to look after the strike, express the opinion that they will have trouble.

In Mussolini's country or in Hitler's, this sort of strike would be impossible. "The will" of the dictator would prevent it.

Perhaps a way will be found here to substitute justice and fair arbitration for a dictator's will, and for a disastrous, costly strike.

EUROPE, following President Roosevelt's message to the effect that this country will attend to its own financial business, seems to realize that the United States has resigned as paymaster and general factorium for lands across the Atlantic.

The Paris newspaper La Volante, meaning "The Will," which has some importance, remarks that "Europe is being pushed toward self containment," and thinks "the American attitude must open our eyes." It should do so to some extent. La Volante's reference to "European economic self-containment" means continental Europe, as opposed to the British empire and the United States.

Europe would definitely realize that this country is through making bad loans to Europe, and no longer proposes to take orders from European statesmen, that would be most acceptable to America.

FORMER prime minister of France, Herriot, writing in his newspaper, "The New Era," appears to possess an unusual grasp of world affairs outside the limits of the old Paris fortifications.

While other Frenchmen demand that continental Europe go ahead without the rest of the world, Herriot says, "It is a joke to speak of a European front against the United States, without Great Britain, without Germany, without Russia."

He observes also that Great Britain would go with the United States because if Great Britain did not, the empire might have a break with Canada and Australia.

Clever Satire and Western Form Double Bill at State

BASED on the popular stage play by Julian Thompson which had one of the most successful runs on Broadway, and made up of a most imposing cast of popular players, "The Warrior's Husband" is the feature attraction of today at the State theater.

The second part of the program is "Nature In The Raw," latest Zane Grey thriller and starring George O'Brien and Greta Nissen.

Grand Cast of Players

Enacting the part of Antiope, played by Katharine Hepburn in the stage version, Elissa Landi, lovely star, gives an excellent characterization. David Manners is cast as her lover, and as the leader of the Greek army he is very good.

Ernest Truex as the bashful and effeminate Sapiens is a sensation until he did so well as the novelist in "Whistling In The Dark." Truex is no stranger to stage production audiences and he certainly won't be forgotten soon after his delightful comic role in this film. "Too, Marjorie Rambeau as Queen Hippolyta does fine work—she has not been so well cast since "Min and Bill."

Others in the film include Helene Madison, Olympic swimming champion, Helen Ware and Gwen Lee.

Unusually Good Plot

The story is one of the cleverest, most novel and most comical to come to the screen in a long time. There is no let down, no lapse of good dialogue and the scenes and backgrounds are quite elaborate.

Wise-cracking, mythological character's strut across the screen talking very modern indeed. If you can imagine a situation in which women completely dominate the male and who actually wear the "trousers" of the family then you have imagined only half of "The Warrior's Husband." It might be said here that the picture does not miss a trick. There is genuine humor but back of it all one can see, an incisive refutation of the modern trend among women toward masculinity.

If woman, up to now, has invaded the barber shop and the has dissolved. For years with a radical left on one hand and a conservative right on the other, the "Catholic center" has been a great influence in Germany, dating from the days of Bismarck. It threw, to some extent, on fear of Bismarck's opposition to the Catholic church, expressed in his well-known saying, "wir gehen nicht nach Canossa," "we are not going to Canossa." He referred to an incident in mediaeval history, when the German emperor, in humble submission, stood barefoot in the snow under the pope's window at Canossa.

The dissolution of the German Catholic center party is voluntary, and announced by the party as made "in agreement with the chancellor."

Dignitaries representing the Catholic church in Germany have warned Catholic priests against criticism of the German new rulers and new conditions, so that Hitler at present stands at the head of a Germany with only one political party, his own. And so it is with the other dictators, Mussolini, Stalin, Kemal.

Jap Movie Queen

tailor shop to usurp man's rightful place, she should retreat under the cover of feminine blushes after seeing this really splendid satire.

"Life In The Raw" has all the elements of popular adventure, romance and thrilling episodes.

O'Brien, premier western star, returns to the screen after an absence and he has a new leading lady in the person of Claire Trevor.

Greta Nissen, star of silent films, is prominently cast.

Performance of O'Brien in this film ranks him as one of the most outstanding western stars.

He is attractive and can ride a horse expertly. There is a sureness about his work that makes one enjoy watching him to the last of the picture.

Etsuko Kato has become Japan's favorite movie actress by emulating American stars who are popular in Nippon—she swims, dances, plays golf, drives fast cars and otherwise acts "modern." The beauty is shown between scenes at the studio in Kyoto.

Hold Tent Meetings

A four weeks' tent meeting began last night on the lot just west of Reilly stadium. The meeting is interdenominational, and is conducted by Rev. Bunch, of Warren, Mass. Dorothea Meehan, of Youngstown, is the pianist, and Mrs. Bunch assists with the music. Rev. Bunch spoke last night on the needs of and the way of a true revival. He urged "cleanliness among Christians." In stating his platform, he declared his messages would be only Bible messages, and his motive would be that of winning people into the Kingdom of God.

Mrs. Bunch and Miss Meehan sang a duet last night, and the speaker played the trombone. The meetings begin at 7:30 each night, and services will be held regularly each night except Saturday.

Teacher To Speak

Mrs. Anna K. Stork, school teacher of Elyria, will address a meeting of the Socialist-Labor party at South Lundy ave. and East Pershing st., at 8 p. m. Saturday.

Her topic will be, "Can Roosevelt Save Capitalism?" The meeting will be open to the public.

City Hospital Notes

Edward J. Lovelock of North Lima has entered the City hospital for surgical treatment. Mrs. Matilda Brittain is in the hospital for medical treatment.

Kidnaped Banker So That He Could Help Him Escape

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., July 7.—A high school boy who helped kidnap John K. Otley, 65-year-old banker and sportsman, said today he did it so he could gain the victim's gratitude by helping him escape.

Offering aid in the hunt for a companion in the abduction, the youth told officers he was James Pryor Bowen, 17, son of a Lavonia, Ga., farmer. He said an older man engaged the plot.

As Otley, president of the First National bank drove toward his office, a fruit peddler hailed him. When the banker stopped the peddler pushed a gun against his ribs.

The banker was ordered into the back seat, he said, and the Bowen youth appeared, slid under the wheel and drove him away as the peddler kept guard. Blindfolded Otley was driven to a woods near Suwanee, 30 miles north of Atlanta, and forced to write a note to his wife, asking $40,000 ransom.

The peddler left with the note. Otley said he talked to the boy about the gravity of the situation and the youth released him. Together they went to Suwanee where Otley telephoned his home. The boy was taken in custody.

Young Bowen said he came to Atlanta to get a job and stay with the man while he went back and saw to getting the money. The youth went on. "I figured if that was all I had to do I would go along and let the man go free as soon as I could. If he was a very rich man he would be my friend."

"He told me that all I had to do was drive the car and stay with the man while he went back and saw to getting the money," the youth went on. "I figured if that was all I had to do I would go along and let the man go free as soon as I could. If he was a very rich man he would be my friend."

WANDERER SETS FIRE TO PAPERS

"John Delaney," Unclothes, Taken from Cell, Collapses

fraternity for three days, were brought to Salem by Paul Hecker, former patrolman here.

A registration card for the same automobile was found in the man's coat. It was issued to "John Delaney" at New Richmond, O., near Cincinnati, on July 2, 1932.

Notes found in the man's coat led police to believe that at times he had gone under the name of "Jack Carroll." Included in the records was a physicians' certification that two children, Esther and Estelle Carroll, had been properly vaccinated in Spokane, Wash., in 1932.

Another note stated: "This is to certify that my husband, Mr. Jack Carroll, did not desert me but left with our youngest child, Estelle, at my request."

It is signed by Virginia Carroll and dated April 28, 1933, in Rochester, N. Y.

Still another note says: "Goodbye. I am on my way to Cincinnati, Virginia." This offered police basis for a theory that Delaney or Carroll was enroute to Cincinnati in a hunt for his wife, when he was forced to abandon his auto because of the lack of gasoline.

There were letters, directed to him as Delaney from a magazine publishing company, and still others, from various business concerns, addressed to "Jack Carroll."

Problem For Authorities

County authorities can do nothing with the man, declared by physicians to be insane, until his identity and last place of residence are definitely established. Ohio statutes prevent his being admitted from this county to the state hospital at Massillon because he is apparently a non-resident. His daughter, cannot be enrolled at the Fairmount Children's home, Alliance, as first planned by authorities, for the same reason.

They hope now to locate his last residence and turn him over to authorities of that county. A search is also under way for his wife to whom young Estelle will be given.

The man, on his arrival in Lisbon accompanied by Salem police yesterday, walked out of the probable court into a nearby office, shouting, "Murder has been committed! Tell the police at Cincinnati; bring them in an airplane!"

He dashed out of the office as quickly as he entered, and immediately was apprehended by pursuing officers who returned him to Judge Hammond's court.

There, at the request of Charles Marton, soldiers relief commissioner, his finger prints were obtained by C. E. Donahay of Salem, Bertillon expert and county dog warden, who forwarded the prints to the department of justice at Washington.

D. C. Delaney told Marton that he had been drafted for service during the World War and was at Camp Sherman when the Armistice was signed.

Ruth Stars As American Team Defeats National Leaguers, 4-2

THE DAY IN SPORTS

AMERICAN STARS WIN
WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

AMID an impressive panorama of greatest baseball stars of today, American league players triumphed over National leaguers, 4-2, in a highly ballyhooed struggle that turned out to be just another ball game at Chicago Thursday. The best each of the two major circuits possessed in talent composed rival teams but the classical engagement anticipated failed to materialize.

George Herman Ruth, dynamic home run clouter, provided the biggest thrill of the day with a circuit blow that scored two of the victors' runs and, probably, brought home the decision for his club. One of three Cleveland Indians picked on the all-star team was given a chance to break into the game. He was Earl Averill. Pitchers Oral Hildebrand and Wesley Ferrell watching the battle from the bench. Frankie Frisch swatted a homer for the Nationals but for some reason or other four-baggers sent into stands by George Herman, the Bambino and King of Swat, have something that no other player can put into the game. No doubt it's The Babe himself; one of the most colorful players of all time, he's something to watch, strike out (and he did this twice), or hit a home run.

JUST WHAT the victory means probably is a subject for debate in many circles where rival fans for some years have been arguing over the supremacy of one league's players over the other. The circuit wallop by Ruth was all the difference there was between the two teams in scoring.

Needy, retired baseball players were the real winners of the game.

Gross receipts totaled $52,000, with net receipts estimated at approximately $42,000, which will go to the National Association of Professional Baseball Players, an organization formed to help old players in want. The official attendance was 49,200. Regular admission prices, 55-cent bleachers, $1.10 grandstand tickets and $1.65 for box seats, were charged, which accounts for the low gross. The only expenses to be deducted from the gross are those of the players for travelling and hotel expenses.

The game was sponsored by the Chicago Tribune and the teams chosen after a nationwide poll of fans by newspapers.

The only real disappointment was failure of Connie Mack to use Jimmy Foxx, leading home run slugger of the American League. An informal cheering section, stationed back of the American League dugout, vainly chanted "we want Foxx," during the last three innings.

Every ticket was sold three days ago and speculators had no trouble in getting $10 for a $1.65 box seat, and up to $5 for $1.10 grand stand locations.

Pie Traynor of the Pittsburgh Pirates, rated as the best third baseman in the National League, was outfooted by a plump male fan during fielding practice. A low throw got away from Traynor, the ball rolling back of the sack. The fan hopped over the rail and beat the Pirate star to the ball and hustled back to his seat, as Pie glared.

I. A. C. Team Wins Two Over Pirates

Salem I. A. C. Junior tossers captured both ends of a twin bill with Salem Pirates at Reilly athletic stadium Thursday.

The Pirates cracked out 15 hits to win the first game, 10-7, then took the second, 12-8, connecting for 14 hits.

DeCrow and Nonno were the winning twirlers.

PHILADELPHIA—If the size of the feet have any meaning, several members of the Temple university football squad will become policemen. No less than nine wear No. 12's while two sport a "13" and another a "14".

HARDWARE TIES FOR 1ST PLACE; BEATS DEMING

Jim Primm Stars in 4-2 Triumph; Cigars Win by Forfeit, 9-0

The Salem Hardware shoved itself back into a tie for first place in the Class A softball league with a 4-2 victory over Deming company tossers in a closely fought, interesting battle at Centennial park field Thursday.

Jim Primm Stars

Hitting of Jim Primm, who suddenly appears to have found himself after an extended batting slump, was one of the features of the victory. Primm cracked out two safeties, scored two runs and made a brilliant catch of a liner that looked like a sure double early in the game.

Arnold Seeds and George Morris also played important roles in the win, each connecting for two safeties.

Poor base-running and a continual stream of infield misplays proved fatal to Deming tossers who once had the sacks loaded with none gone and had men on bases practically every inning. Eyster and Walt Deming hit safely twice in three times up.

Must Replay Game

The win boosted the Hardware back into a tie for first place with the Calkins Chicks, each having won five and lost one. These teams, through a ruling by the board of arbitration, must play over a protested game won two weeks ago by the Hardware.

The American Legion forfeited to the United Cigars, 9-0.

CHAMPIONSHIP FORM

Members of American Ryder Cup Team
Show You How to Improve Your Golf

This is the fourth of a series of illustrated lessons in which America's premier professional golfers, the men chosen for the 1933 Ryder Cup team, demonstrate how the average golfer may improve his game.

LEO DIEGEL (left) has a unique putting form. The usual stance and form is that used by Paul Runyan (right), and it is Runyan's form that is recommended to most golfers. However, these experts emphasize the necessity of each player adapting himself to the individual form in which he finds it easiest for him to control his wrists and hands in swinging his putter. The body must be perfectly balanced and the elbows kept anchored. The work must be done with the hands and wrists rather than with the arms as a whole. Runyan's grip shows how the left hand must be made to lead the stroke.

Of course, the head must be kept down. The chin must stay fixed. This is just as important on long shots as on short approaches in preventing slicing. The "dub" usually lets his head pop up too soon in making chip shots or short pitches. Concentration on head control is absolutely necessary to good playing.

LOU BROUILLARD TRIMS WALKER

Mickey Loses Decision In Boston Fight; Takes Bad Beating

(By Associated Press) BOSTON, July 7.—Either Mickey Walker's best fighting days are behind him, or he can't battle a foe-man smaller than himself.

The Rumson bulldog engaged Lou Brouillard of Worcester last night in the Boston Garden's 10-round feature bout and took a terrific lacing. Although he was nine pounds heavier at 170 and two inches taller than Brouillard, Mickey was on the defensive during all but two rounds. He was able to launch only a few of his famous looping punches and none made impression on the middleweight.

Brouillard rushed Walker for the first four rounds, during which he landed many a solid right to the body and jarring left hook to the head. Then he eased up.

Walker, however, was unwilling to become the aggressor, although he managed to shade Brouillard during the long-range exchanges in the fourth and fifth sessions. Brouillard went into high gear again in the sixth and gave Mickey a battering until the final bell.

A left to the body staggered Walker in the sixth and a similar blow threatened to put him down. Hafey, if not for the veteran's courage and experience saved him from complete humiliation.

The struggle drew a crowd of 16,000. Victory probably put Brouillard well along the road to a middleweight title bout and Walker's defeat may rob him of a crack at the light heavyweight diadem.

"FIRST NIGHT MURDER"

By F.G. PARKE

COPYRIGHT 1931, BY DIAL PRESS, INC., - DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Julius Brandt, theatrical producer, was slain in his seat at the first night performance of "Martin's mystery play." His death was a mystery. His body was found in a room of the hotel where he was staying. The police department is investigating the case. The district attorney is also investigating the case. The police department is investigating the case. The district attorney is also investigating the case.

"J. B.: That's Brandt, of course. Why this is a threat," exclaimed Martin under lock and key. Grady will be able to trace where this was sent from and possibly who handed it in."

He picked the printed form off the table and scanned it carefully. But beyond the fact that it was a full-rate local message, handed in at 9:38 a. m. he could learn nothing.

Worried Meditation

"Damn funny," said Martin, putting down his empty glass and strolling over to the window. It was a pet theory of his that he could think more clearly and with more detachment when looking down over the seething maelstrom of traffic. His apartment was on the twenty-seventh floor. Generally as he surveyed the crawling atoms of humanity far below him on the street, he felt like Gulliver among the Lilliputians. It gave him a feeling of philosophical tolerance toward mankind a cosmic outlook, in a sense, watching the tiny figures scurrying to and fro on errands that seemed to them so preternaturally important.

But now, as he stared down, his head throbbing painfully, Martin felt as helpless and ineffectual in the general scheme of things as the old lady whom he could see hundreds of feet below, being helped in to her car on the opposite side of the street. He turned as he heard Barton rising.

"I'm afraid that I've given you something to worry about," apologized the producer, watching the author's haggard face anxiously. "If I had known how ill you were I shouldn't have come. I'll go right down and see Grady."

He laid a friendly hand on Martin's shoulder.

"Look here old man. You go back to bed. You look awfully seedy. Get your man to give you some aspirin and a hot drink and try and get twelve hours' sleep on top of it. This damned business is getting on all our nerves."

Need For Air

Martin shook his head. He felt the need of fresh air more than sleep, to rid his head of that heavy, cloudy feeling.

"I think I'll go for a walk," he said pulling himself together with an effort. "Say, Burton, I've just had an idea. If Grady thinks there's anything to this telegram business, why don't you come up here and park for a bit? I've got a spare room and I guess even our

The doorbell rang as the author reached for his hat. He was pouring out another drink for himself when Sam entered with a telegram.

Martin set down his glass again, mystifiedly to that yellow envelope. He snatched it from Sam. Intuitively he knew what it contained before he tore it from its cover.

He read:

"Thought you would like to know you will be seeing J. B. soon."

Martin's mouth set grimly. He thrust the telegram into his pocket and hurried out of the apartment, leaving Sam staring after him in mute bewilderment.

***

The district attorney marched into his office and tossed a newspaper over to Lieutenant Grady, who was waiting for him.

"Read that!" he said grimly.

Grady picked up the paper. His eye wandered to the marked editorial. It was entitled "Another Hush-Up?" Grady read:

"Four whole days—more than ninety-six hours—have come and gone since a notable Broadway producer was found gruesomely murdered in one of New York's foremost theaters. He was killed in the presence of several hundred people, almost within touching distance of the police commissioner himself.

"Wednesday morning a second murder was committed. From its ghastly nature it is obviously traceable to the same fiendish agency that perpetrated the first. It took place in broad daylight, within call of half a dozen people. The victim was a motion picture star, famed all over the world.

"And yet, as these comments go to press there has been no arrest! The man in the street is becoming restless. He is beginning to ask himself what is this mysterious factor that finds apparently so little difficulty in damning up the regular channels of justice?"

The police department either cannot or will not say. Are details of the shocking murder of Julius Brandt being withheld from announcement, with the connivance of the district attorney? Is the slayer of Bonnie Adaire to go unpunished because of his connections with the underworld and direct the storm of the police department?

"The honest, law-abiding citizen is demanding action, and immediate action. He is asking himself whether the reticence of the police department is due to inefficiency, neglect or to orders from a secret and superior source?"

"If the murder of national celebrities is to continue unchecked, with sketchy official investigations, what guarantee has the average citizen of the safety of his dear ones?"

"Is this unnamed—if not so unknown—buncher to prey unhampered in our midst?"

"Is this to be another hush-up?"

"That isn't the only one. They're all clamoring for 'immediate action,' now that this Adaire girl has been killed. I've just been talking to Ingram about it. It looks pretty circumstantial against Gats Perino. But is it weighty enough to present to the grand jury? That's the question. And anyway, where the devil is Perino?"

Grady drew his thick brows together in a frown. He thrust a batch of reports in front of the district attorney and bit his pencil viciously.

"We ought to pull him in today, sir, but God knows he's slippery as an eel. As I telephoned you last night, young Ellis trailed him to the Fifty Club, but Gats was one too many for him. He can't get out of town now unless he tunnels his way through."

He reached into his pocket and drew out a plan of the Olympic theater. In red ink and in their

HOUSTON, Texas — Police here have been instructed to be on the lookout for a set of false teeth. A housewife called police headquarters and reported her teeth valued at $75, were stolen from her kitchen table.

PARK CITY, Mont. — Park City will not need a municipal airport as long as its main street is in working order. Pilot Wayne Seifert, testing a locally constructed plane, took off by taxiing down the street after traffic had been blocked off at all intersections.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind. — Seven-year-old Annabelle Fessler suffered a bone fracture for the 15th time here when she fell while walking on crutches. The latest injury was a fractured collar bone.

● THE STOPWATCHES ARE SET... the signal is given... they're off — to set a new women's speed record in typewriting! Fingers fly madly, yet surely, over the keyboards... for accuracy counts as well as speed! The whistle shrills! The judges make the count... and Stella Willins is crowned the fastest woman typist in the world—with a record of 124 words a minute!

● AT RIGHT—STELLA WILLINS is shown enjoying a Camel. She says: "I'd advise anybody who enjoys smoking a lot to smoke Camels, for the sake of their nerves."

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Since tobacco quality is all important in a cigarette, Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

TURN TO CAMELS

STELLA WILLINS says: "I just couldn't type at top speed and do it accurately if I hadn't learned how to keep my nerves healthy. I am a woman who enjoys smoking. I prefer Camels, as I never tire of them no matter how steadily I smoke. They are delightfully mild. And they don't make my nerves ragged. I'd advise anybody who enjoys smoking a lot to smoke Camels, for the sake of their nerves."

Camels, made as they are from costlier tobaccos, give a satisfaction that never fades... no matter how steadily you smoke them. Start smoking Camels today and discover for yourself the added pleasure of a milder cigarette that never tires your taste. It is more fun to know.
